WASHINGTON-Use of U. S. ground troops in Indo-China is out. The defense department has submitted an estimate to the national security council that it would take ten divisions of U. S. troops to regain the offensive militarily in Indo-China Simultaneously Secretary Wilson reports that neither the Philippines nor Thailand, both eager beavers for Asiatic defense will send any troops whatever to Indo-China unless the United States does the same. Wilson, who returned last week from a lengthy tour of the Far East, is dead set against sending American infantry, even if it means the loss of the entire country Prime Minister Nehru has informed the American embassy the Communists will agree to a cease-fire in Indo-China. Nehru says his personal representative at Geneva. Krishna Menon, has been assured of this by both the Russian and Chinese Communist delegations during secret talks. According to Nehru, Russia's Molotov said the Reds do not want all of Indo-China but only the northern half which they new have captured. Molotov has warned, however, that the Reds absolutely must have the French stronghold of Hanoi and all the critical Delta area. Nehru thinks this is reasonable and will favor giving it to the Communists for the sake of a compromise peace . . . Meanwhile he has privately offered to police an armistice in Indo-China, if the two sides can reach an agreement. India is prepared to send most of its army to Indo-China, Nehru said, to supervise the armistice.

Labor and Church

The American Federation of Labor which owns property on swank Lafayette square immediately opposite the White House, loaned its garden the other day to St. John's Episcopal Church, which adjoins it in the rear.

The church was holding a gala garden party and the AFL was delighted to cooperate.

The AFL Musicians Union, however, was a little miffed when the Air Force dance orchestra turned out to play for the party.

A protest was immediately registered with the Air Force by local musicians.

"Using a military dance band," they said, "is like calling in the Army Engineers to build the church especially when the dance band was playing on our property."

Child Psychology Can Tame

By Ruth Millett

When a husband blows his top over nothing and behaves in his wife's eyes like a big baby, there are three things she can do.

She can tell him he is acting like a two-yearold in a tantrum. She can get a hurt, wounded look on her face and treat him with cold politeness until he gets the point that he is in the doghouse and is going to stay there until his wife decides she has gotten even with him. Or she can say to herself: "Since I think he is acting like a two-year-old why don't I try using a little child psychology on him?

It's In The Book

"The books say to ignore a child in a tantrum, not to be upset by it or to punish him for it. And since the tantrum is to gain attention, he'll come out of it once he realies that it isn't getting him what he wanted." Those are the three methods a wife can use.

The first two don't solve anything. The first usually winds up with a verbal battle. The second may in time bring forth a grudging apology, but not the kind that is likely to clear the air.

Only the last is a really adult way of handling a childish outburst.

It brings the storm to a quicker end. And if used repeatedly, it in time teaches the man that blowing his top when things don't suit him just won't work at home.

Child psychology isn't just for children. It will also work with a grownup who is behaving in a childish manner.

Gate Crashers

WASHINGTON-Washington's Number One hostess, Mrs. Perle (Call Me Madam) Mesta, just laughed it off as a joke when she was queried about reports that invitations to her big "coming out party" on Saturday night, May 29, were valued at $500 a pair.

This is the big blowout, planned for more than a year, to mark Mrs. Mesta's return to the capital. It was a by-invitation-only affair, and tickets weren't for sale for any amount. The $500 price, however, is what one Washington publicity man offered to pay for a couple of the Mesta cardboards marked "Please Present at the Door.

The story got out through one woman who was invited and whose husband was approached to act as middleman in trying to cadge another two tickets. The offer was, of course, turned down. Mrs. Mesta had prepared for gate crashers. She stationed two secretaries and two butlers at the door. The butlers collected the cards and read off the names to the secretaries for checking.

Need Federal Aid Now To Ease Classroom Shortage

By Bruce Biossat

A government survey shows that in the school year just closing there was a deficit of nearly 350,000 classrooms. The likelihood is the situation will get worse as the children of World War II marriages stream through the school

Currently before the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee is a proposal authorizing federal aid to the states for new school construction. If this measure were to be approved by Congress, and implemented by direct appropriations, a healthy start could be made toward licking this problem.

However, Secretary Oveta Culp Hobby of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has asked that action be delayed. She wants to wait until planned White House and state conferences on the situation can be held, so a more accurate gauge can be put on the ability of local communities to meet construction needs.

There would seem not the slightest reason to doubt Mrs. Hobby's good faith in this mattter. Her request for a postponement does not make her an enemy of new school construction, as some of her critics seem to suggest.

But, assuming the best of motives, the effect of a postponement by Congress on federal aid would be to increase the classroom deficit through the 1954-55 season, with damaging result upon the educational opportunities of hundreds of thousands of youngsters.

There is always a certain lag between the voting of appropriations and the start of authoried projects, and obviously school buildings cannot be thrown up overnight like tents. If federal action is put off until the 1955 session of Congress, the prospects are that the benefits of any aid will not be felt in the form of new schoolrooms until some time in 1956-possibly even later.

In and around Congress are some pretty ingenious bill-drafters. If one of these cannot come up with a federal aid formula flexible enough to accommodate to later information on local community resources, then the craft of lawmaking is sagging badly.

The Senate and House ought to approve now some such flexible plan, and initial appropriations should be voted. Cramped quarters can produce cramped minds. Delay may put an ineradicable scar upon our youth.

It is better to move fast and err on the side of spending too much, than to delay and deprive America's young people of an opportunity that, for them, may never come again in quite the same way.

Politics Cripples Trade Pact

Evidently President Eisenhower has reconciled himself to the fact that he cannot this year get more than the customary one-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act.

He had asked for a measure extending the reciprocal authority for three years, and granting him as well further discretionary powers in the adjustment of tariff rates. The bill set forth the major recommendations of the President's commission on foreign trade, which studied the problem for several months.

The principal reason the White House proposals have been set aside, as least until next session, is that they are regarded as sure to precipitate a bitter fight within the Republican Party between high and low tariff factions. In this election year, party leaders on Capitol Hill and elsewhere believe they cannot afford to widen the schism that already is plaguing the party in other ways.

The Difference

SPEAKING IN OPPOSITION to a bill providing for a White House conference on education, Rep. Martin Dies (D., Tex.) told the House, "I can anticipate the day when the President will be constantly occupied meeting with conferees or advisers."

Dies then told the story of a man from Texas who had gone to Chicago and made a lot of money as an adviser. When a friend asked him what an adviser was, he explained it like this: When you ask an ordinary fellow what two plus two is, he'll say four. But when you ask one of these conferees or advisers what two and two is, he'll say:

" 'When in the course of human events it becomes necessary to take the numeral of the second denomination and add to it the figure two. I say unto you and I say it without fear of sucessful contradiction, that the inevitable result will be four.' "

Wilson's Wit

Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey tells a story about ex-President Woodrow Wilson. When Mr. Wilson was governor of New Jersey, a politican called him up in the middle of the night to inform him that a member of his cabinet had Quite annoyed, the governor said he thought there was no need to wake him up to tell him that, and there would be plenty of time to name a successor. "That's just the point." said the politician. "I thought you might name me to take

Governor Wilson thought that over a minute and then replied, "It's all right with me, if it's all right with the undertaker."

A Tough Man

CIO PRESIDENT Walter Reuther paid Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey an un usual compliment after his speech before the big labor organiation's unemployment conference in Washington.

The atmosphere at this session was anything but friendly. The union delegates sat on their hands, looked the other way and made it clear they didn't believe a word he was telling them about the Eisenhower administration program.

But after the speech, Reuther observed: "This Humphrey is a tough man. He doesn't just make a speech. He believes what he's saying.

Manners Make Friends

Johnny's mother gave a birthday party for Johnny and invited every child in his schoolroom but three. Those three naturally felt left out. It would have been better had Johnny's mother planned a small party or one that would have included every child in the room.

It hurts kids to feel that they "don't belong."

WASHINGTON A - Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) said today it is time for the administration to make up its mind about what course it intends to follow in combating communism in Indochina and Southeast

Gore said he agrees with an assertion by Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican Senate leader, that the free world has come to a "jumping-off place" and cannot afford to let the Reds continue talking at Geneva while they swallow territory in Indochina.

"I agree with Sen. Knowland's view, but Congress can't take the lead in this matter." Gore said in an interview. "Before Congress can act at all, the administration must make up its mind what it is going to do.

Yesterday's Games---Minoso Keeps White Sox In Running

By JOE REICHLER

Orestes Minnie Minoso, cited New York by Ted Williams a "potentially Milwaukee the greatest player in the Ameri-Philadelphia can League," has thrust himself St. Louis boldly into the running for the Cincinnati most coveted honor the junior cir-cuit has to offer—the Most Valu-Pittsburgh able Player award.

Largely because of the all-around brilliance of this fleet-footed son Matanza, Cuba, the Chicago White Sox have been able to keep within striking distance of the league-leading Cleveland Indians. No player—and that includes Williams, Al Rosen and Yogi Berra-has done more for his club than Minoso. As the season comes to the one-third mark, the 30-year- Cleveland old outfielder leads the circuit in Chicago runs batted in, runs scored and New York triples. He's tied for the lead in stolen bases and in the top five in Washington hits, home runs, doubles and batting. His team value is reflected Philadelphia in his ability to do a workmanlike job at third base as well as anywhere in the outfield.

Minoso was Chicago's big gun again yesterday as the White Sox swept a double-header from Washington 5-3 and 6-0 to run their winning streak to five straight and stay within eight percentage points of first place. He smashed his 10th home run with a man on base to provide the winning margin in the opener. He collected three singles, drove in his 50th and 51st runs, scored his 46th run and stole his seventh base in the nightcap. He is hitting .333.

Cleveland protected its firstplace margin by sweeping a double-header from the Athletics in Philadelphia 2-1 and 7-5 while Brooklyn boosted its National League lead to two games, thrashing the Chicago Cubs 6-4 for its ninth straight.

The Baltimore Orioles held New York to a split in their twin bill to drop the third-place Yankees 31/2 games behind the pace. Veteran Joe Coleman, continuing his fine comeback, beat the Yankees o 7-4 for his sixth victory but the Yankees won the second game 5-2 as Allie Reynolds outpitched Don-
